MAKING

For more than a century, the futures of thousands of young women have been shaped inside the pale yellow columned buildings at Mary Baldwin College, where generations of students have learned poise and good manners along with Shakespeare and Galileo.

But today Mary Baldwin, like most of the 110 women's colleges across the nation, is undergoing a dramatic transformation. In place of the liberal arts finishing school image that was once synonymous with southern women's colleges is a new emphasis on career and professional training. Mary Baldwin's catalogue has pictures of computers and microscopes and alumni who are doctors and corporate managers. "Preparation for independence" is the college's new motto.

The new emphasis has meant re-vamping curriculums to attract a new generation of women students who are more interested in career preparation than liberal arts or old school traditions.

At no other women's college has the change been as dramatic as at Mary Baldwin, which became one of the first women's colleges to impose a professional curriculum on its liberal arts foundation in the mid-1970s.

The result has been financial solvency, record enrollments, increases in fund raising, a new mix of students that includes older women and some gifted high school students, along with the traditional undergraduates and a heavily professional curriculum.

among regional liberal arts colleges in the South and border states in a nationwide survey of 662 college presidents asked to name the nation's highest-quality undergraduate schools. Mary Baldwin ranked third overall after coeducational Millsaps College of Mississippi and Wofford College of South Carolina.

Results of the survey by U.S. News and World Report were released in the November 28, 1983 issue.

"Being ranked the top women's college in the region is a reward for our efforts in recent years. Although this isn't our first national recognition, The National Center for Higher Education Management Systems having chosen us in 1982 as the model turn-around college, the U.S. News ranking is probably the most exciting because it's such a popular and well-respected magazine. Also, it reflects recognition by our peers — other college presidents," said MBC President Virginia L. Lester.

In the survey, 1,308 four-year college presidents were asked to name the highest-quality undergraduate schools. A total of 662, more than 50 percent, responded. They based their judgements on the quality of academic courses, professors, student bodies and general atmosphere of learning provided.

"In the mid-1970s, Mary Baldwin set itself aside from other women's colleges in the South by choosing to emphasize both career preparation and the liberal arts. Scrutiny of our curriculum shows more than just lip service to careers; our graduates are actually a step ahead, be it in the world of work, graduate school, or in community volunteer agencies," President Lester said.

Education," a consumer guide published in October by Times Books in New York.

Mary Baldwin is the only women's college in Virginia to be selected for inclusion in the volume by Edward B. Fiske.

"Of course we're most pleased to be among the other colleges included in this prestigious list," said Dr. Cynthia H. Tyson, MBC President. "It is especially rewarding that Mary Baldwin is alone among its competing southern women's colleges in being featured in this important publication."

The publication singles out several of Mary Baldwin's strong academic disciplines, including chemistry, biology, communications, and business, and also mentions outstanding alumnae.

The College was also cited for its "modest tuition charge," outstanding campus facilities, extra-curricular offerings and vast financial aid opportunities.

A student quoted in the publication also lists the College's single-sex status as an asset.

"With no males, restrictions, intimidations and social pressures do not exist in the classroom," she is quoted as saying. "I like the fact that leadership and role models are looked upon and respected."

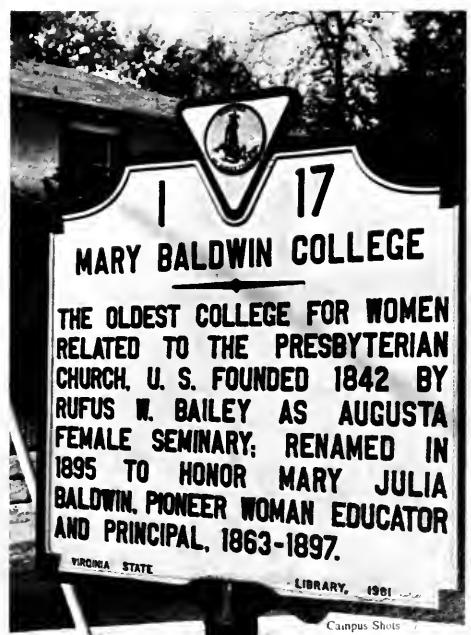

The College is one of 221 cited by Fiske in his guide to "colleges that offer high quality education at a reasonable cost," according to a publicist at Times Books.

DEDICATION

An important part of our years at Mary Baldwin College is an individual who has offered each of us strength, wisdom and inspiration.

Kenneth S. Armstrong, Jr., Director of Development and College Relations, has been our friend as well as mentor.

Upon our arrival at MBC, you greeted us with a warm welcome, friendly smile and amazing memory when we realized you knew our face, name and hometown. The transition of leaving our home and beginning a new life within the MBC community was made easier through your guidance, encouragement and concern.

You supported all of our activities and encouraged us to do the same. You have shown us school spirit, composure when necessary and that "wild" side of you so many of us know. (Do you remember the water fight with three masked bandits in Bailey four years ago?) Your love and respect for MBC and the students has been overwhelming and neverending.

Thank you Ken for all you have given us. As we continue with a new life after MBC, your influence will always stay with us.

To the Class of 1986:

In this, my first year as President of Mary Baldwin College, I have looked to you, the Class of 1986, for special support and guidance.

You are my first Senior Class, and you have helped me get to know, not only upperclassmen, but also the whole student body and College community. You have been welcoming, inspiring, supportive, knowledgeable, generous, confidently in-charge, and commanding of my deepest admiration and respect. In short, you have captured for me the essence of the Mary Baldwin woman and have made my being one of you both a joy and an honor.

It is now time for you to move on; and it is altogether fitting that you should, for you are ready. We who remain behind are confident of your abilities and that you will represent our College superbly in whatever directions you choose in life.

As you go, we give you our sincere good wishes. Each of us at Mary Baldwin hopes for each of you in the Class of 1986 that life will bring great joy, fulfillment, success, and the peace of knowing you have done your best. We also give you our love so that it may sustain you with the sureness that Mary Baldwin College is and will always be your home.

Though we always do it all.

Cadets and frats both know us well,
From VMI & W&L.

We're the ones who will be seen,
With Calvin, Ralph, and L.L. Bean.

We're the class with lots of class,
We will not be surpassed.

We're the class of '87,
1-9-8-7 HEY!
1-9-8-7 HEY!

We're the class of '88,
We know we'll always have a date.
Hampden-Sydney, UVA, and W&L
Is where we play,
Roadtrips that we take are fun,
That's why our work is never done.
and months we procrastinate,
but to a party we're never late.

Events

Worship is the key to the religious life at Mary Baldwin. All-College services held monthly in Miller Chapel are opportunities for the MBC community to worship together. These interdenominational services are held during the convocation hour on Tuesdays. Evening weekly chapels provide a relaxed time of fellowship with Christian teaching. The student worship committee coordinates these services which often have special music, guest preachers and student involvement. The church calendar is observed as the community of faith gathers for events such as Christmas Candlelight and Communion Service, Ash Wednesday and Maundy Thursday services, and Easter Sunrise Service.

Founder's Day

Each fall, Mary Baldwin College holds its annual Founders' Day ceremony. This occasion, near the birthday of Mary Julia Baldwin, marks both the Seniors' Investiture and Senior/Freshmen Parents' Day.

It is at this time when the College community honors the founders of Mary Baldwin, Rufus W. Bailey and Mary Julia Baldwin. While the parents of seniors may be looking at Mary Baldwin for one of the last times, the parents of freshmen are able to learn more about the college and campus and recognize it as their daughter's second home for the next four years.

MORE APPLE DAY

Speculation arises as that October day draws near. Only the Sophomores, however, know when it will be. Finally one night, during an uninteresting dinner, the news is broken by whistles and cheers as Sophomores, dressed in their class attire, run about proclaiming that tomorrow is Apple Day.

That evening's mixer is a red and green occasion filled with music, laughter and fun for all. The following day includes skits, games, candied apples and fun. All work is thrown aside as the MBC community participates in the activities.

We cannot forget the Apple Days past, when the day was spent picking apples in the country orchards. Although the traditional activities have changed through the years, the tradition of Apple Day is upheld and anticipated with anxious arrival.

FALL FEST

In the fall of 1978, a new tradition befell Mary Baldwin College — Fall Taps. Since then, the name has been changed to Fall Fest, but it is still the first big weekend at MBC.

The weekend began with a pub party on Friday night, followed by an outside performance on Page Terrace by Roger Day and Eric Heinsohn on Saturday afternoon. The festivities were in full swing with the Saturday night semi-formal featuring Seventh Wonder. Sunday afternoon ended the weekend with a Tacky Tourist Beach party.

JUNIOR DAD'S

Karen Ann Sisko receives the ring
from her Father

One of the lasting symbols of Mary Baldwin College is the ring the juniors receive at Junior Dad's. On November 9, at the most formal dance of the year, dads and daughters were in the spotlight during the ring presentation. This was followed by the first dance with Dad and his best girl. The tradition of the rings being presented to the juniors by their dads is the highlight of the special weekend.

CHRISTMAS

As the hundreds of paper bag lanterns lit up our campus, the MBC choir brought a resurgence of the lost holiday spirit to the students of Mary Baldwin and the congregation of the First Presbyterian Church. While the choir sang "A Ceremony Of Carols" and "The Mass", the audience forgot about pressures, deadlines, and the approaching exams, and shared an evening of the purest joy of the season. It is a night that brings the wonder of the Christmas season into all of our hearts.

Streams of silk and black taffeta clad, white-stockinged girls flooded the dining hall. No one would be able to tell that a few hours before the campus was going crazy trying to finish up work and study for exams. Why the taffeta? Why the curls? Why the makeup on a Wednesday? Why, its Christmas dinner! It's MBC's traditional holiday meal complete with non-alcoholic wine and cornish game hens. Every year it lets us forget about work and spend some quality time with our friends. Every year the food is wonderful and the feelings are genuine.

DINNER

Party

For the second year at MBC the senior class sponsored the first party after Christmas break. Needless to say, the New Year's Party gets everybody back into the swing of things — ready to face another semester of papers, tests, parties, and classes. For the seniors, it is the last semester of four incredible years. It seems very fitting to start the new year of 1986 off with a bash sponsored by the class of 1986.

As the entire student population suffered from February blues, the Social Committee decided to sponsor Midwinters. With the Cruisomatics on Friday, and the Waller Family on Saturday, we got to forget about the cold, midterms, and cozy up to a warm heart from W&L, H-SC, or VMI.

SPRING

O I R E E

Although Spring Soiree isn't as well financed as Fancy Dress, or as dry as a VMI hops, it is a great way of recovering from the post-spring break blues. This year MBC hosted the bands wild Kingdom and Xenon. The weekend was brought to a close on a mellow note with Heinsohn and Day, sponsored by the class of '89. Spring Soiree was a success in that it brought thoughts, parties, flowers, and romance to those who attended.

Sophomore

Show

Was Hasler pocketing the workers' raises? Did Gladys really love Hines, or was she just flirting? How could Prez have such indiscriminate dating practices? Will Prez's wife find out about Mae, or about Gladys? Will Babe's and Sid's love last? NO, its not a new soap opera, but rather a taste of the offbeat musical romance presented by the class of 1988. Each year the sophomore class produces, directs, and stars in a "sophomore show." This year's show was The Pajama Game, by Adder and Ross. Presented to the parents and the MBC community on Parent's Weekend, Sophomore Show is one of Baldwin's most lucrative traditions. A primary source of funds for the class' ring dance, the show is a tremendous experience for all who are involved.

BROMAN CONCERTS

The Broman Concerts are named after Dr. Carl W. Broman who served as chairman of the music department at Mary Baldwin from 1935-1976. The concert series brings some of the best modern classical music artists to M.B.C. and the Staunton community. This year's performers were: Kathryn Selby, pianist; Claudio Jaffe, cellist; the Eder String Quartet; Froydis Ree Wekre, hornist; Harvey Phillips, tubist; Paolo Restani, pianist; and the McDermott Trio. Because of Dr. Broman's contributions not only here, but also in the Staunton community, Trinity Church cohosts a concert with M.B.C. once a year. Robert Allen, professor of music here at Mary Baldwin, has been the driving force behind the Broman series, organizing and publicizing the concerts. It is through the persistence and hard work of the music department that we have been honored with the quality of performers that we have had.

The 1985 volleyball season was one of personal and team growth. Many goals were set at the beginning of the year and as the season progressed, the team was able to achieve many of these goals. They plan on reaching the remainder of these goals when everyone returns for the 1986 season. Everyone will be returning and with more experience behind them. This was the best year in the short four years that Mary Baldwin has fielded a volleyball team. We expect that the returnees for 1986 will again have a record breaking season.

FIELD HOCKEY

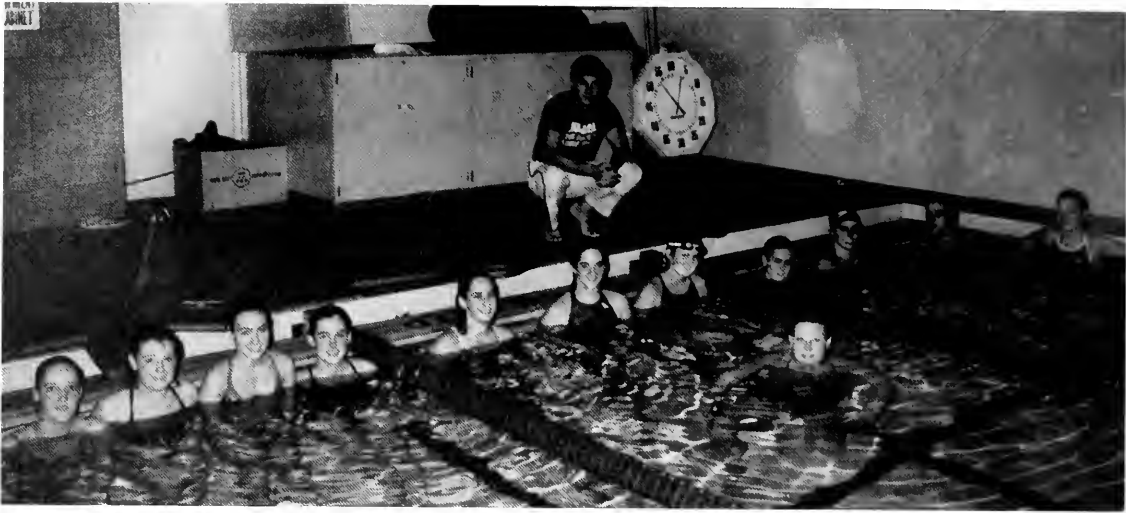

The 1985 season marked the second year for the young Mary Baldwin team's participation in the ODAC Conference. The competition was tough, but only helped the team to improve their abilities. Four seniors, Elizabeth Parkhurst, Angie Muth, Julie Hoff and Lori Vaught led the squad with experience and dedication. The seniors along with juniors Laura Ruhl and Eleanor Vance and sophomores Betsy McDaniel, Eleanor McClendon and Cindie Smith made up the nucleus of the field hockey team. Freshmen Felicia Sharpe and Martha Hendrickson were a nice surprise to the Baldwin roster. Both arrived with experience from former high school programs. Six hardworking beginners filled out the squad. They were freshmen Hillary Bauman, Karen Maxey, Carmen Vaught, Katherine Williams, Susan Wilson and junior Constance Bellamy. Last, but not least, was the team manager, senior Kathy McDonough.

Ann-Renee,

A daughter brings sunshine
to brighten your days
And she brings worlds of joy
through her warm loving ways —
The sweet things she's done
and the nice things she's said
Are memories to cherish
throughout years ahead.

A daughter means a world of joy
right from the very start
A daughter means a world of pride
to warm and fill your heart,
And when a daughter's wonderful,
sweet and thoughtful, too,
A daughter means a world of love
to last a lifetime through.

A daughter's a blessing
that comes from above —
She's a special and beautiful treasure to love.

You're a joy of a daughter
who has always been dear,
Who's loved more than ever
with each passing year.
Love always,
Mom and Dad
